You have to do laundry. What's the one thing you need. It's two o'clock in the morning and you have the munchies. What's the one thing you need more than anything else (that Westminster has)?

Change

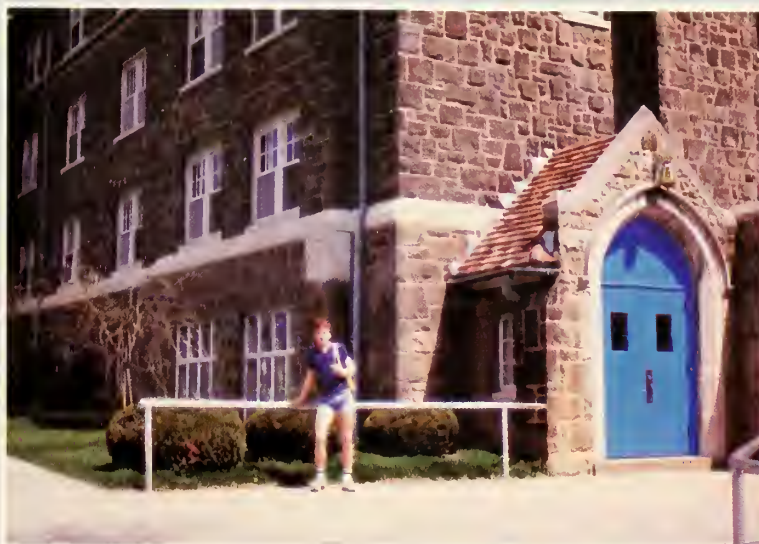

Think of the things that we see every day. Do you remember what they looked like in the fall of 1981?

- The mail boxes
- Hillside residence hall
- The telephone in your room
- The President's office
- The President
- Your roommate
- The Snake house
- The Ep house
- Browne residence hall
- The Bookstore
- The Dean
- Your major
- The ratio of men to women
- Your social life
- Your grades
- Your opinions
- Your parents
- Your friends
- Your sorority or fraternity
- Tuition
- Your clothes
- Your favorite flavor of Ice Cream
- The football team
- Your future
- Your past
- Your present
- Your favorite drink
- Your favorite place
- Your idols
- ???

In the last four years the only thing that was constant was:

Change

STUDENT LIFE

You finished all your work and you need something to do. What's your first move? Of course! You change into something comfortable, something wild, something fun and head for:

- The fraternity parties
- An SGA movie
- The Lube
- A Theater production
- Rachel's

Think about it next time you want to go out. There's so many things you can do. And, you can even stay home . . . for a change.

Homecoming

This year's Homecoming/Parent's Day celebration was an extreme success in every sense of the word. Not only did our Titan football team beat Findlay College to preserve a 34 game Homecoming winning streak, but all the other activities of the weekend were also successful.

The activities started Thursday evening with an exciting display of fireworks and a bonfire at Brittain Lake. The pep rally was filled with promising enthusiasm. Friday evening offered even more on the cultural side, "California Suite" presented as a dinner theater by the Alpha Omega players. Before and after the dinner theater, the Art Gallery was open for viewing by interested parents, friends and Alumni and displayed works by Joe Neill.

Saturday morning dawned with the promise of more fun in the air. The sun shined and a crisp autumn breeze blew softly as people lined the streets to watch the annual Homecoming parade. The college community and the people of New Wilmington worked hard to make the parade a success. The town provided the Wilmington High School Band and the college community contributed the colorful floats and an impressive band of our own. The theme for the day was "Cultures of the World," and the Kappa Delta float creatively combined the theme with school spirit by making an Egyptian float with the cheer "A-NILE-ATE Findlay!" The parade ended at the Field House and left the crowds hungry for the sumptuous picnic lunch along Brittain Lake.

During halftime of the game, last year's Homecoming Queen, Independent Angela Ciocca, passed on her crown. Her successor was Junior Elementary Education major Judy Mack, the Alpha Gamma Delta representative. Her court consisted of Kappa Delta's Iris Galimberti, Sigma Kappa's Jennifer Ireland, Zeta Tau Alpha's Elaine Jochen, Chi Omega's Adele Dyson, and Independent Alicia Slade.

The day's festivities were completed with a buffet dinner and dance at the Sheraton Inn. This was an excellent time for friends, Alumni and family to enjoy each others company in a very relaxed atmosphere. The dance was a big success.

Sunday marked the closing of Homecoming activities. The Alumni choir joined this year's Choir to sing one more time in the morning Vespers service. The weekend closed as friends, family and Alumni hugged good-bye and headed their separate ways once again, with one more special memory from Westminster College.

The Streak Continues

In one of the most exciting Homecoming games in years the Westminster Titans defeated the Findlay Oilers 17-14. Findlay brought in a high-powered offense against the stingy Titan defense.

Although the Oilers gained 279 yards on the ground, the Titans used 4 interceptions to hold the Oilers to 2 scores.

Wide Receiver J. J. Brennan's 4 receptions sparked the

Just another day at Memorial Field.

A Special Place

Many people don't realize how much the students of Westminster do for the New Wilmington community. The college provides the people with entertainment such as Celebrity Series, plays, movies and concerts. The townspeople are also welcome at all sporting events.

Westminster also offers a variety of special programs for the children in the area. "Kiddie Gym" is a perceptual motor program for 3 to 5 year olds run by Elementary Ed majors. Kappa Delta Pi education honorary and Jr. block sponsor a story hour also.

All the fraternities and sororities raise hundreds of dollars each year for various organizations. EST travel every week to places such as the Sankey center and YDC, and also tutor at the high school. They also visit with "adopted grandparents" at Shenango Home and the School for the Deaf.

These are just a few of the things that help make Westminster a special place for the students — and the community.

2. Jr. Block brought 105 Shenango 1st graders to the campus on a tour. One group got to lift weights with members of the Pit.

The Roommate Game

Have you ever wondered why your best friend may be the hardest person in the world to live with? Have you ever wanted to go to sleep and your roommate brings her boyfriend or several friends over to listen to a new record album? Have you ever wanted to sleep in one morning and your roommate decides to set her alarm for 5 a.m.?

Most likely, you have answered "yes" to at least one of these questions or can relate to one that was asked. Despite all the bothersome, petty things roommates do that may drive you crazy, we still live with them. They are a part of college life that will never be forgotten.

Roommates are people with whom we share our lives, in spite of all the annoying habits that go hand in hand with living with another person. We go to meals with them, celebrate good times with them, share joys, sorrows and care packages with them. And, if we are lucky, we may even be able to share some of their clothes.

Roommates come in all shapes and sizes, and we may not always like sharing a room with them, but we manage . . . somehow. In the long run, we learn to adapt to differing tastes and levels of neatness, learn to settle arguments and differences of opinions sensibly, and even learn to control our own irritable temperaments.

Rooming with another person is a learning experience that is part of the liberal arts education we all obtain at Westminster.

Happy Valley

When you need a break from campus, where do you go? How about those times when you need something quick but nice for a friend's birthday? Or, where do you go when you feel you need to temporarily escape the hassles of college life?

If you answer these questions with Prima's, Miller's and New Wilmington Park, then you know your town, Happy Valley . . . New Wilmington. Though we often fail to realize it, the snug Boro of New Wilmington provides a lot of services for the Westminster College Community.

Besides Prima's and Alice's, both popular spots for the pizza starved college student, the Hoagie Hut and Isaly's are open throughout the year to provide meals and snacks for the typical study-breaking student. For those with a taste for the finer things in life (and the cash to pay for them) the Tavern and the Feed Mill offer a delightful change of pace for the students entertaining his or her parents for the weekend. And, of course, there's always time for a run out to Dutch Isle and their special cookies-n-cream ice cream.

If non-edible service is what you seek up town, then perhaps Miller's Convenience Store, Greenwood Pharmacy, New Wilmington Food Mart or Mon's Buy-a-bit are the places you frequent most. The local Florist, too is a popular place, especially during formal time. For unique gift items or even something special for yourself Puff-n-Stuff provides Tobacco, teas, candies and a host of other assorted goodies.

If a quiet walk through New Wilmington Park is not quite enough to clear your head of college turmoil, then there's always a coffeehouse at Shelter from the Storm or Neshannock Church to help you relax and enjoy yourself. The list can continue on. New Wilmington is special for those who call Westminster home for 9 months of each of their college years. The many businesses in town help make it just a little more special . . . for all of us.

The All-Nighters

Although "The All-Nighters" are not an official Westminster athletic team, they have been around for a long time. The players on this team come out in full force during the mid term and finals week each semester, although some play this rigorous sport for every test and paper.

If you would like to be on this team, there are no pre-requisites, no interviews, and no limit in the amount of people who can participate. Participation in a study marathon is what this game is all about. While the typical workout for "The All-Nighters" varies with each individual, one frequent participant did expose his game plan for 8:00 a.m. tests. His schedule is as follows:

10 pm Having procrastinated since the last test, the time has come to gather all your materials. These include your text, note book, any tests from previous years that you may have unearthed, and a plentiful supply of caffeine-enriched beverage. Find a comfortable place to sit — it's going to be a long night!

10:30 Once all your study gear is within reach, start studying!

11:30 After going through your notes one time, it's time to take a break! Close your notebook and turn on the radio, television, or stereo so you can relax your mind — this is strenuous work! We don't want to over tax our brain!

11:52 After relaxing for precisely 22 minutes, open that notebook and learn those notes!

12:45 Your stomach is sending Morse Code messages to your brain: "I'm starving. Let's go to Mon's!

12:50 Arrive at Mon's. Buy a Hoagie or candy or Doritos or potato chips or cookies — anything that will stop those grumbling noises in your stomach.

1 am Major "Pig-out" session. After all, food (especially chocolate) is a great source of energy. Right?

1:20 Back to the books! Don't forget to drink plenty of coffee or Coke that is NOT decaffeinated.

3 am If the caffeine from all of the coffee or Coke you've been drinking isn't really helping you to stay awake and maintain consciousness, try taking some NO-DOZ. It will definitely perk up the night.

4:30 Still hanging in there? Is all of the information you've been memorizing like "mish-mash" in your brain? Are your eyes sore, tired, red, and irritated? Beginning to think you need a break? By all means, take one! A good way to clear your mind is to exercise!! No lie!! It gets your blood circulating faster and gives you energy to keep going. Besides, it's a great way to maintain that perfect figure.

Well, if exercising at 4:30 am is not your forte, you can always go to the candy machine and buy a couple of candy bars. For some reason, this choice is more popular than exercising!

6 am The count-down begins. There is only one hour left to cram for this test. You have almost made it — keep going!

7 am Take a shower to revive your body. You may really need it.

7:30 Can't take a test on an empty stomach. Go to breakfast and fuel up.

7:45 Skim notes one last time, and if you think it might help, say a prayer that you don't fall asleep while taking the test.

8 am Open your blue book and take your test. Remember to regurgitate all of the information your brain has retained from cramming all night.

9:10 Slowly, very slowly, walk back to your dorm, frat house, or apartment and find your room. Lock your door, put your phone on "Do not Disturb," and crash for about 12 hours.

Do you think you can be a part of this team — The Broke — The Tired — "The All-Nighters?"

What Did You

The momentum begins to rise early in anticipation of the upcoming Easter break. Professors assign mountainous loads of work that will become "all-nighters" when we return from vacation. Many groan as they realize they have to stay longer because that "---" of a professor is giving an exam and not considering the students. Conversation becomes circular as the age old question, "What will you be doing during break?" is continually asked. Soon however, the last of the exams are taken, the mandatory classes attended and we realize "We're out of here!!!" The constraining institution is letting us go; we prepare for either an adventurous, relaxing or intriguing vacation which looms now within reach.

All of us are going in different directions; we begin to pack our bags for Florida, Arizona, Mexico, North Carolina, Boston, NYC or home.

Soon however we find ourselves "back" and the "fish" stories begin to circulate. The Ft. Lauderdale people tell of the wild parties, the 40 to one room, the madness, the bars and perhaps some of the sun. Well, Miami beachers just plain relaxed by the pool or beach, soaking up the rays and making many jealous. The travelers to Mexico found many bargains, brushing up on their Spanish and meeting many available muchachos and señoritas. As the sun set, these fun-seekers discovered that love was in the air.

The northern city visitors saw plays and operas, witnessed the Boston Marathon and were inspired by the excitement of the city life. Home was also another spot as many of us tasted real food. Movies were seen, and the high school gang was back together again. Best of all you were in your own bed relaxing, when not looking for a job for the summer.

Now back at Westminster from the too short vacation, we pull the All-nighters for the homework we never did and study for the tests the "---" professors told us about before vacation.

Fun

It can be defined in a variety of ways by a variety of different people. And at Westminster, fun does take on many meanings.

The fraternity party is the typical mode of fun at Mother Fair. Whether you enjoy punkin' out at the Alpha Sigs, hot tubbin' it at the Toads, "workin' hard for your fun" at the Theta Chi's Tunnel party, nappin' it at the Sigma Nu's pj party, or, for a change of pace, "seein' red" at the Ep house, you can have lots of fun.

For some people, though, fraternity parties are not the best place to have fun. For them, dorm parties are the thing to do. Though the average Westminster student is a conscientious observer of college policy, there are a "few" students who enjoy parties in Eich or Ferguson. Wherever the mood is the best . . . or surveillance is worst.

A dorm party can be non-alcoholic of course. And the participants of Hillside's Annual Fall Ball can testify to that. This year's Ball was a Halloween costume party. The newly refurbished lobby, decorated with string spider webs and cardboard tombstones, proved to be an excellent place for students to mingle, dance or just plain have fun.

So, as you can see, fun at Westminster can take on many forms. In fact much more than mentioned. But, however you spend your time at Westminster, don't ever forget . . . HAVE FUN!

Year in a Glance

As almost any Westminster student can attest, it's easy to get so caught up in the business of college life that you forget that there is life outside of New Wilmington. However, as we were consumed with the quest for knowledge, life in the "real" world unfolded. Early in the school year, the world was stunned by the assassination of India's Prime Minister, Indira Gandhi. Also, the leak of poisonous methyl-isocyanate gas from a Union Carbide plant in Bhopal, India frightened the whole world as it killed 2,500 people and left as many as 100,000 others permanently damaged.

The beginning of the school year also brought us the presidential election and the battle between Ronald Reagan and Walter Mondale. Though the presidential race was won by Reagan, Mondale kept the race exciting with the help of his history-making running mate, Geraldine Ferraro.

The medical world had an exciting year. William Shroeder, at age 52, made world headlines as he received his new artificial heart.

Shroeder remained strong and healthy after his transplant and was able to return home. Unfortunately, Baby Fae was not so lucky. Baby Fae was the first person ever to live longer than a week after having an animal heart transplant.

Baby Fae stirred up controversy when she received a baby baboon's heart late in October. After fighting for 21 days, she died.

Alzheimer's Disease also made headlines this year. The frightening disease, known for the way it kills first the patient's mind and then their body, continued to baffle medical professionals.

As the school year wore on, more and more pictures appeared of the starvation and death in Ethiopia. Tears filled our eyes as we viewed the scores of dying children on the news, in the papers, and in magazines. Our hearts and pockets were opened as we sang "Do They Know it's Christmas in Africa?" and "We Are The World" with scores of popular concerned musicians.

In the musical world, we saw stars such as Michael Jackson and Boy George fall from fame and be replaced by Prince, Madonna, and Bruce Springsteen. Movies such as Ghostbusters and Mask made headlines. Famed author Truman Capote passed away this year.

In sports, Mary Lou Retton stole the hearts of the world and the gold of the Romanians by becoming the first American woman ever to win an individual medal in Olympic Gymnastics. The Men's Gymnastics was equally stunning in its capturing of the gold in the team category. Many other athletes made America proud in their Olympic accomplishments. Doug Flutie also excited the sports world with his 60-yard miracle pass that gave Boston College an upset win over Miami in this year's Orange Bowl.

And of course, we cannot forget the induction of Mister Rogers' sweater into the Smithsonian Institute.

In a world of change, we struggle to achieve our goals and still keep up with the events of the world. Though we sometimes seem to forget the rest of the world, we know it is out there, waiting for us to make some changes of our own.

"Where ya goin'?"
 "To the WAMA for change."
 "Where?"
 "The WAMA"
 "The WAMA?"
 "Yes, the WAMA!"
 "Oh . . . ???"

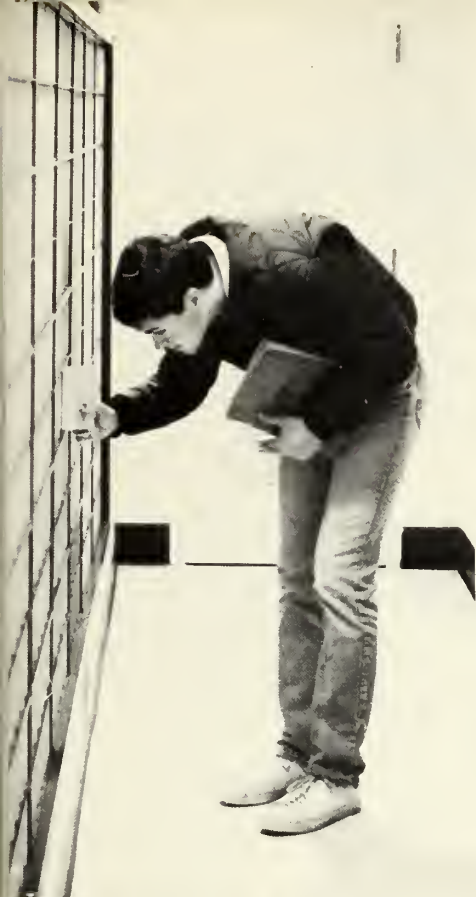

If you want to find change, of any kind, perhaps the Titan Union Building is the best place to start. Known for years as the TUB, the union building changed its name this year to the WAMA, taking the first two letters of its formal name Walton-Mayne Union Building. And the name change is only an example of the many changes the union building has undergone in the past four years.

Now the mailroom and mailboxes are commonplace but, for those who were here 3 or 4 years ago, there were no mailboxes. The mailroom, situated where the TV screen now is, was much smaller and mainly sold stamps.

Other changes also took place. The TV screen was a welcome addition along with the neon sign flashing current events. The top of the union also changed. The biggest change occurred in the bookstore. Enlarged to provide better service, the bookstore increased its selection making it a fun place for shopping for everyone.

Whatever you call it, the WAMA, the TUB or just the union, it's a welcome place to go to study, for a Reachout meeting, for TV or . . . just for a change.

Does Dating Occur at Westminster?

Sitting in Hillside Lobby on any given Thursday evening gives anyone the chance to see an amazing occurrence . . . dating DOES occur at Westminster. Of course, Hillside's not the only lobby to look at and Thursday night is not the only time to look, but, the time and the place are right.

Any Thursday evening, between the hours of 8 and 11, you can see large groups of students clustered around the TV set, watching "Cheers" or "Hill Street Blues." There is bound to be at least one couple among them. As the evening wears on, some couples disappear to a dorm room or outside for a walk in the moonlight. Some also prefer the comfort of the lobby and choose their own corner in which to talk . . . or whatever. After the bells in Old Main count off the midnight hour, almost anything can happen. Undoubtedly, at least one couple emerges slightly ruffled and make their way to the doors to make their farewells. Others stumble in together from a late night at the Lube and watch some Late Night with David Letterman or just sit and talk.

As the hands of the clock approach 3 a.m., couples continue to wander in and out. But, any dating that occurs after this late hour goes unnoticed by all but the walls . . . and of course any old house mothers who linger from the distant past.

May Day

This year's Spring Parent's Weekend/May Day Celebration began with a Symphonic Band concert on Friday Evening. Saturday morning dawned on a beautiful sunny day, perfect for the scheduled events. Among these events were the Beta Chase, a race which was sponsored by Tri-Beta club, the woman's softball District playoffs and a men's baseball double header. The Spring Honors Convocation also took place in the morning.

Late afternoon brought a rainbow of color to Hillside's front lawn in the form of the coronation of this year's May Queen. The sight of the crowning this year was quite historic.

This year's May Day Queen was Junior Iris Galimberti.

Members of last year's court Judy McIntosh, Angie Ciocca, Diane Lane join Palma Serrao, Elaine Hopkins, Debbie Berlin and Iris Galimberti.

This year's court consisted of: Barb Petrini, Kirston Milliron, Judy Mack, Iris Galimberti, Palma Serrao, Elaine Hopkins and Debbie Berlin.

May Day Queen Iris Galimberti with her young court.

The very first May Day coronation occurred on Hillside lawn almost 100 years ago, in 1907. This year's Queen was Iris Galimberti. Her court consisted of Deborah Berlin, Elaine Hopkins, Judy Mack, Kirston Milliron, Barbara Petrini and Palma Serrao.

The day's festivities ended with Greek Sing-n-Swing.

Though traditionally composed of musical acts performed by sororities, the fraternities also pitched in this year. Alpha Sigma Phi did a unique interpretation of music from the movie Stripes while a few of the other fraternities contributed their own musical talents. All in all, this year's Spring Parent's Weekend/May Day was a fun success.

Theatre Westminster

Theatre Westminster kept busy this year putting on three productions. The fall play was The Glass Menagerie, and in the spring the campus was treated to The Night Thoreau Spent In Jail. A special production took place in January as students spent the month preparing to put on the ever-popular Annie. Aside from being able to participate in the musical, students who took the course learned of the time and work that goes in to these productions. These exciting, quality plays were enjoyed and appreciated by all who participated or attended.

A Westminster Tradition

The Celebrity Series has been a part of the Westminster College tradition since 1968. Its purpose is to provide both Westminster students and people in the surrounding community with experiences in the fine arts that they might otherwise never have the opportunity to enjoy.

The Celebrity Series performances in the fall term included Seven Brides for Seven Brothers and the Romanian National Choir, while Spring term brought a taste of the big band sound to Westminster with Larry Elgart's, Hooked on Swing. This was followed by the Magnificent Mazowsze, a group of Polish folk dancers, and, as the final regular performance of this year's Celebrity Series, The Chinese Magic Revue of Taiwan. As a special attraction, a performance of the musical Oliver was added to this year's Celebrity Series.

Overall, the 84-85 Celebrity Series served its purpose well by providing Westminster students and the college community with a variety of unique and enjoyable experiences in the fine arts.

An Evening of Dance

Anyone lucky enough to see this year's Dance Theater realized that it was a cut above those of years gone by. Featuring music by Prince, Rockwell, Yaz and many other fine musicians, the show captured the audiences attention with the unique costuming and some very fine performances. Though directed by Christine Cobb, the students themselves choreographed all the pieces except one. Some exceptional performances included Frank Roth's solo performance of Disturbed Silence, a piece choreographed by Renee Booher to Prince's The Cry and a piece choreographed by Kathy Henry to Barry Eastman's Second and 53rd Street.

One unique performance, choreographed by Christine Cobb, combined the poetry of Nancy James, the photography of George McDowell and the music of Environmente II to attempt to capture the pain experienced by starvation. It succeeded to do just that in a very chilling, emotinal fashion.

If you missed this year's show, you truly missed an example of the exceptional talent of WC students.

Mermaids

Memories, presented by the Mermaids March 14, 15 and 16 in Westminster Natatorium, was a unique blend of music from days gone by. Songs such as Send In The Clowns, A Spoonful Of Sugar, Music Box Dancer and Surfin' U.S.A. propelled the audience back through the years inspiring memories of past experiences. Some special performances included a solo by Mary James to the song I Thank You Very Much and a duet performed by Mermaids president Paige Crandall and her father to the song Sunrise, Sunset. All of the pieces were choreographed by the performers themselves with the help and guidance of Irene Walters.

The show closed with the entire cast joining together to perform to The Impossible Dream, a piece choreographed by Mermaid Vice-President Ruth Mooney. As they worked together forming patterns in the water, they also formed some very special memories for themselves and the audience.

School Daze

From A to Z

ALPHABETICAL ORDER: Seating arrangement assuring that you'll sit among the same group of dummies throughout your academic career.

BOOK REPORT: Brief synopsis of book jacket copy and first and last paragraphs of contents.

CLASS DISCUSSION: Three brains in first row talking with teacher while rest of class talks about who's got a date for the weekend.

D: The good news/bad news grade. The good news is, you didn't flunk. The bad news is, you feel like you did.

ESSAY EXAM: More than you've ever written about less than you've ever known.

FOOTBALL: The magic word in sports.

GRADUATION: Process by which the crazy array of nerds, weirdos, and flakes of school become the nerds, weirdos, and flakes of fond memory.

HONOR SYSTEM: Test in which you're watched like a hawk from the back of the room instead of the front.

I. Q.: Number calculated by taking sum total of all available knowledge, minus everything you've forgotten or slept through, divided by number of hours spent playing video games and watching soap operas, times square root of shoe size.

JUST A LITTLE HOMEWORK: Read 10 chapters, complete review exercises, 5 to 7 handwritten pages, single spaced, both sides, no mistakes, due at 7:15 a.m. sharp.

KNOWLEDGE: Mysterious contents of the mind of the genius in the first row, third seat from the left.

LUBE: Taken over by Westminster College students every Thursday night.

MULTIPLE CHOICE: Three out of four chances to be wrong.

NUTRITIONAL LUNCH: Oval, lumpy object on white bread covered with orangish gravy, gray french fries, green gelatin with something in it, and murky milk.

ORAL REPORT: System of public ridicule devised to teach humility.

PHYS. ED: Course which challenges students' excuse-writing skills ... featuring such strenuous exercises as Stretching the Truth, Dodging the Issue, and Straining Credibility to Artfully Skip Classes.

QUIZ: The "gotcha" teaching technique.

REQUIRED READING: That huge stack of books one begins to read the night before final exams.

STUDY: Those precious moments between soap operas, movies, sports, food, personal grooming, and general lollygagging when one opens one's school books ... and falls asleep.

TEACHER: Tireless warrior in the never-ending battle against ignorance, spitballs, and dangling participles.

UNSATISFACTORY: Tactful term for vile, shoddy, completely worthless, and disgusting schoolwork.

VACATION: Something WC students get very little of.

WORRY: Creative substitute for the drudgery of homework.

XAMINATION: Xasperating Xercise in the Xhausting pursuit of Xcellence.

YOUTH: Years exchanged for a sheet of paper in a dead language and a flat hat with a piece of string hanging from it.

Happy Birthday Hillside!!!

January 27 was no ordinary day at Hillside Dormitory. In fact, it was far from normal for this day found faculty members, staff and students gathered together in the lounge of the dorm to celebrate a birthday. And what a birthday celebration it was!

January 1985 marked the 100th birthday of Hillside dormitory. And as approximately 150 people listened, Dean Linda Friedland helped them relive some of Hillside's history.

Opened in January 1885, Hillside was named The Ladies Hall and served as both a residence hall and a conservatory of music. Instead of the student resident directors we are all too familiar with today, the Ladies Hall was run by a Governess who enforced rules that per tained to studies, prayer meetings, and of course, dating. At that time, the Ladies Hall also had its own dining room in what is now the lounge.

Since these earlier times, Hillside has gone through many changes. In 1906, the dorm was remodeled and renamed Hillside. In 1941, the women moved out of Hillside into Browne, and Hillside was used by the Navy to house sailors in training. The sailors soon dubbed the building as the USS Hillside.

When the navy left the dorm in the Fall of 1944, women once again occupied it. This situation lasted until Ferguson was built in 1959. From 1959 until the spring of 1984, Hillside was a men's dorm.

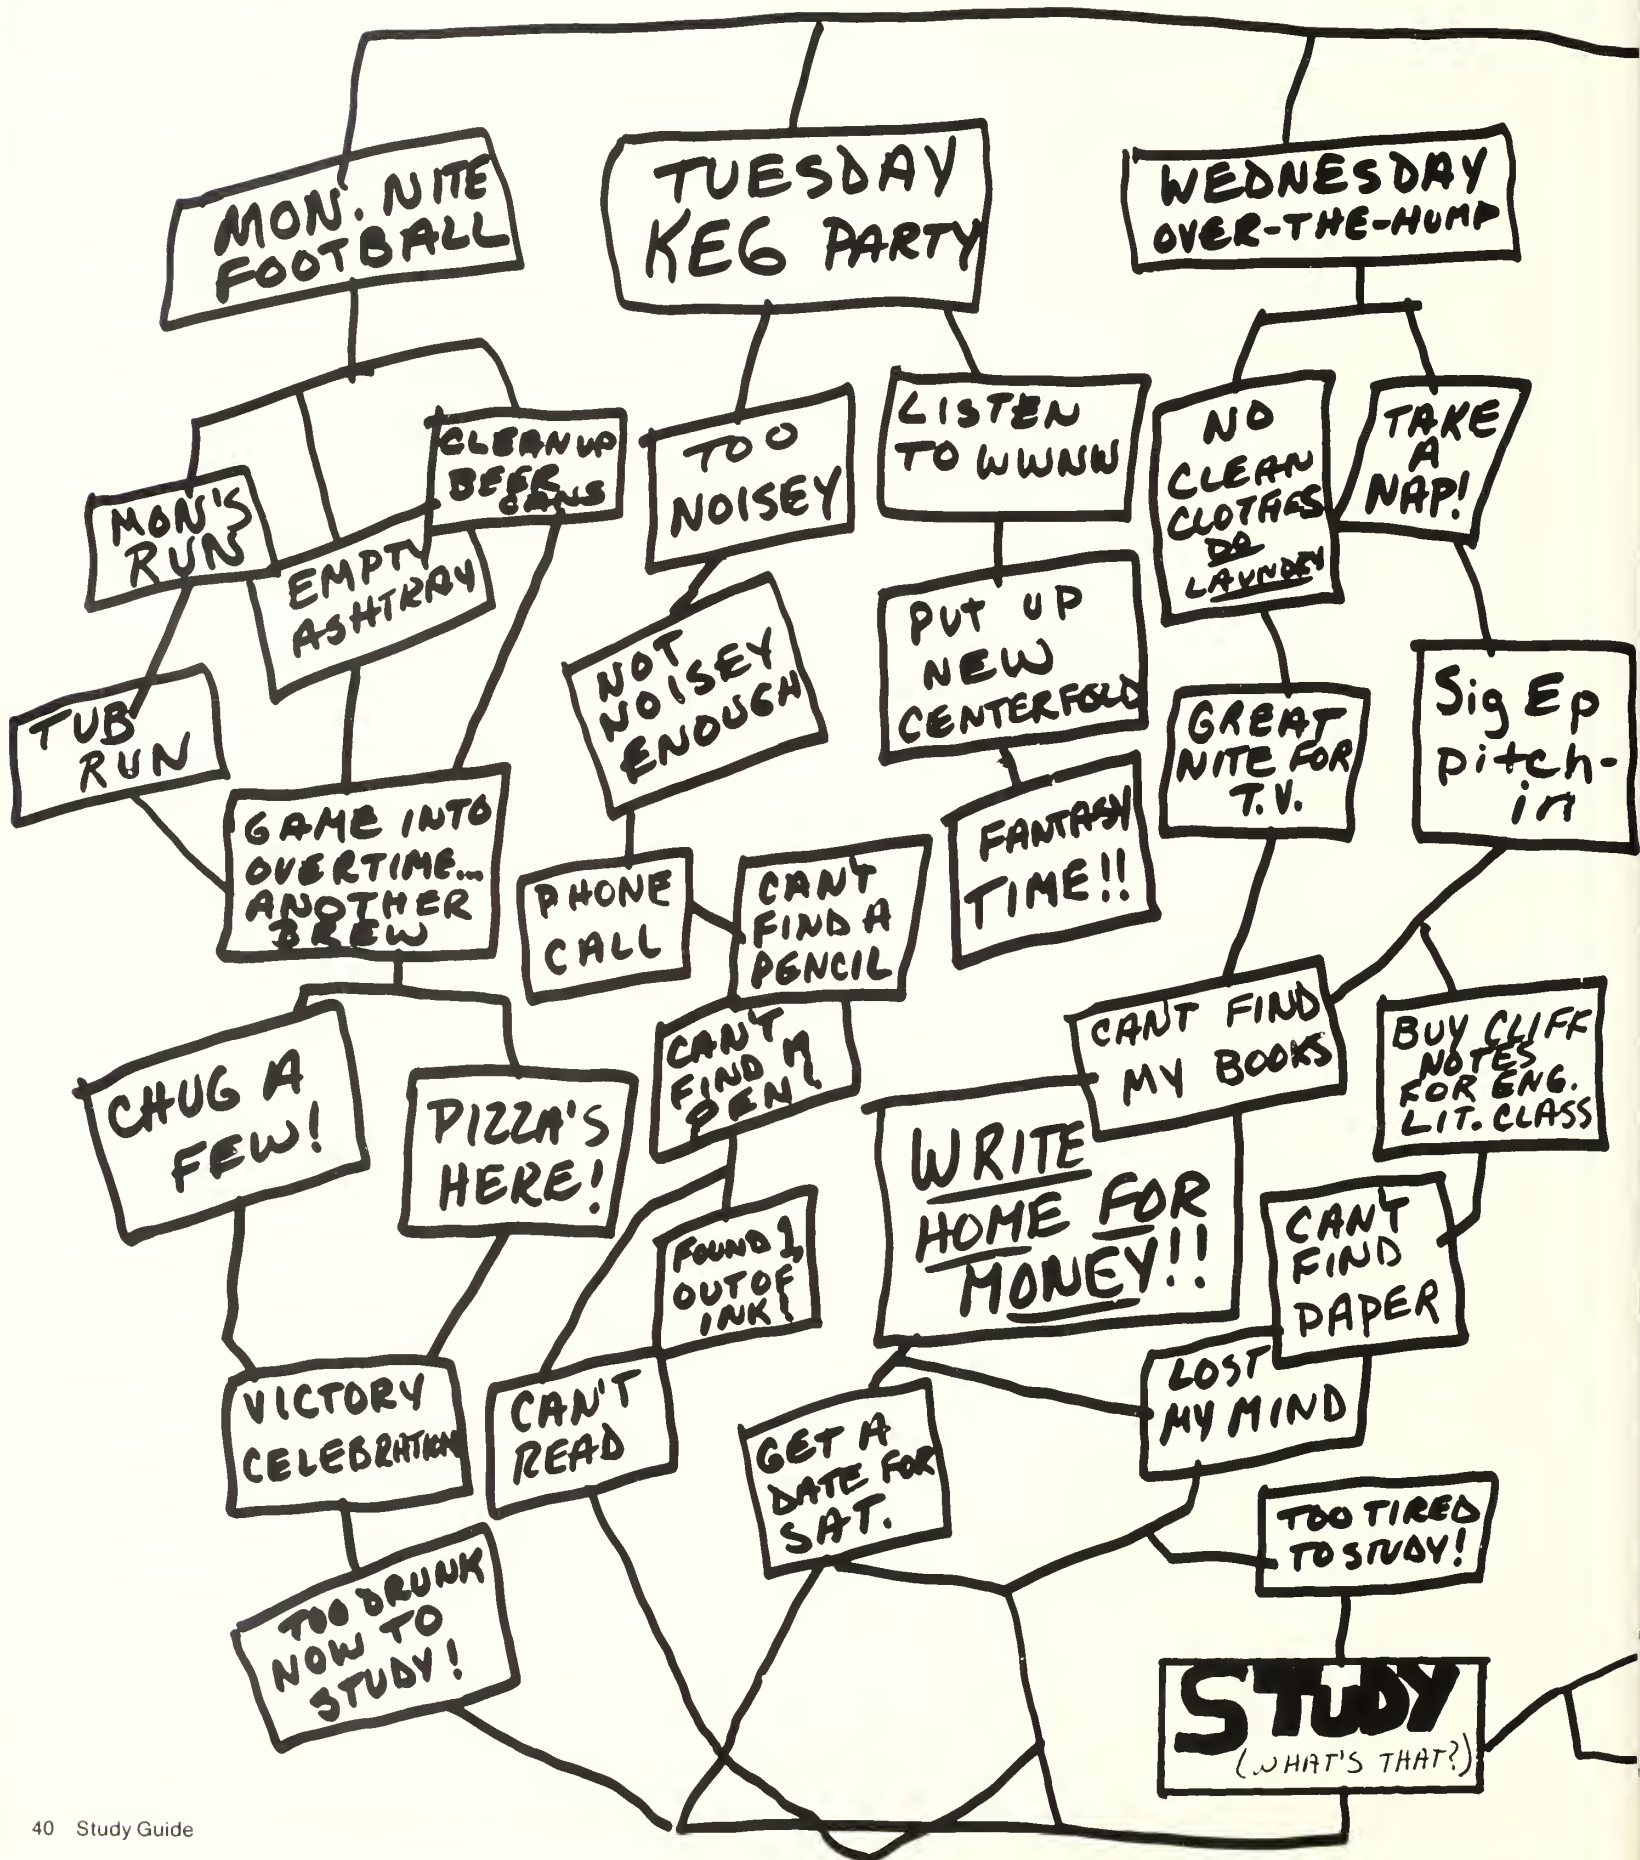

During the summer of 1984, Dean Friedland worked to refurbish Hillside to its present condition. And on that snowy day in January, Hillside was once again a women's dorm. As Dean Friedland unwrapped the building's birthday present, (a much needed vacuum cleaner) the women of Hillside joined voices in singing Happy Birthday to their home away from home.

And perhaps if you listened hard enough, you could hear the men and women of the past one hundred years singing in unison with the present residents of the building.

Pre-Registration

"Who knows a sleezy class I can take?"

"Did you get into everything?"

"It's closed — now what do I take?"

Such are the comments, screams and wails which annually echo throughout the art gallery and the lobby of Orr. The course names change, the students' faces change, the comments might even change. Yet the event never changes, it is a tradition at Westminster . . . pre-registration time.

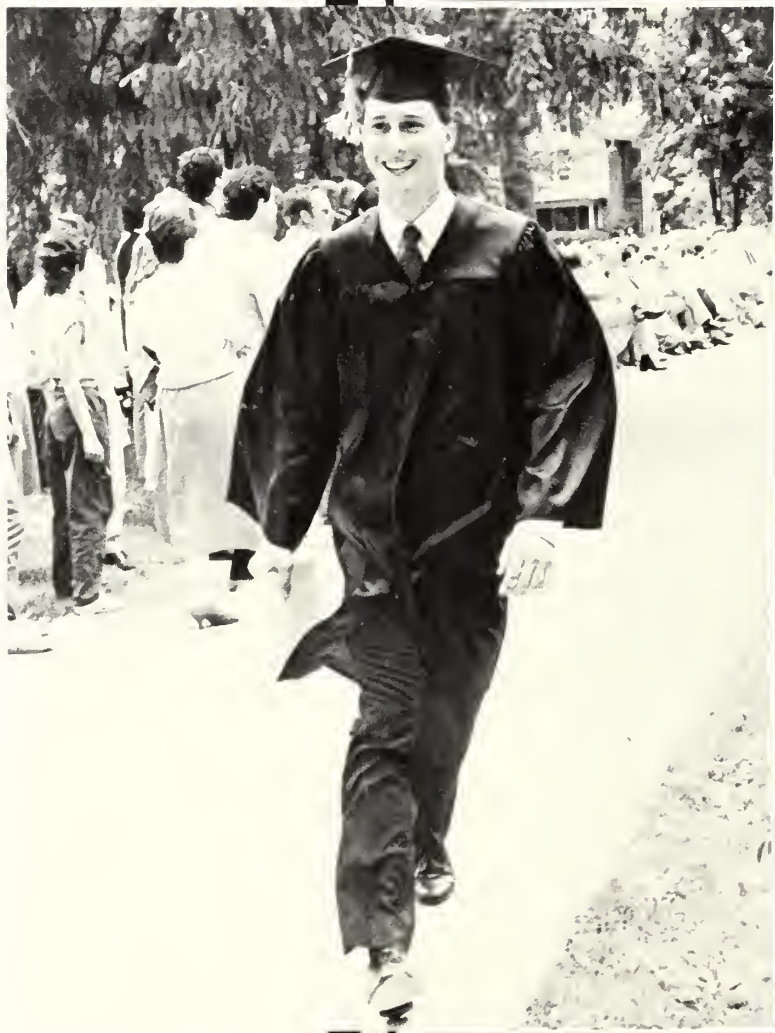

Twice yearly, students roll out of bed at the ungodly hour of 7:30 a.m. in order to register for the next term's classes. It is the one event on the school calendar which students attend with no regard to their personal appearance. Sweat pants and painter caps abound and most faces still bear the slightly bleary imprint of sleep.

For upperclassmen, it is merely an annoyance. Juniors and seniors have the first pick of classes and their attitude tends to be, "Well let's get this over with so we can sleep in the rest of the week!"

Freshmen, however, are fed upon horror stories of closed classes and fouled up schedules. Throughout the week of pre-registration, they anxiously watch the communicator with dread, anticipating such closings. By Thursday, it's their turn to register, and their anxiety is at a fever pitch. It is not unheard of for freshmen to spend an unforgettable night on the art gallery floor in order to be first in line for a desired class. Little heed is paid to administrative warnings such as the one inserted in the communicator:

FACULTY ADVISORS are requested to encourage freshmen NOT to spend all night in Orr Auditorium TOMORROW before pre-registration THURSDAY.

The advisors will continue to encourage and the freshmen will continue to sleep and such is the stuff of which traditions are made.

Graduates

Commencement. It means the beginning. You hear the word and your mind flashes back to four years ago when you were just beginning:

- Back to Russell Dining Hall for meals
- Back to rooms with no phones
- Back to freshmen dorms where no one studied in their room
- Back to Freshmen orientation

You're not the same. Parts of you have changed, grown up, and will never exist again. Other parts have replaced them: Senior week, Baccalaureate, Commencement . . . the beginning of a life of change.

Athletics

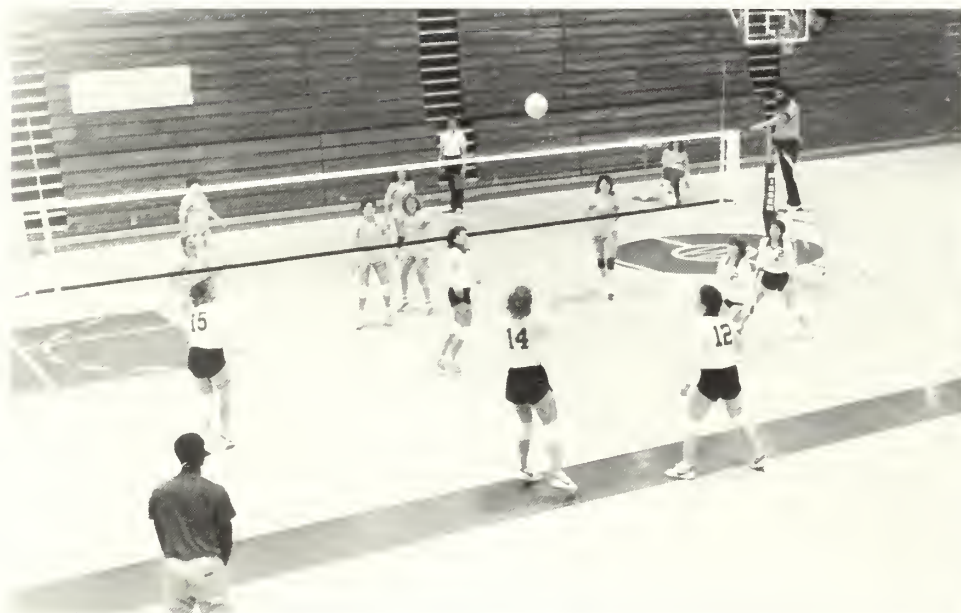

What we need is a change of pace. Watching the Field house in the last few years, we know the athletes change. And the sports . . .

- Field Hockey
- Uniforms
- Play-off hopes
- Trainers
- Women's Track
- National Championships

. . . they change too. Think about those athletes that change uniforms with each new season like they change classes for each new term. To keep up — to keep pace — they know they've got to change.

Lady Titans Place Third

The Westminster Woman's Volleyball team finished their season with an overall record of 17-13 and a third place finish in District 18 of the NAIA. The team was well rounded and worked hard together.

Several individuals contributed to the overall success. Senior Becky Edwards was a strong hitter and backline player and was named to the All District NAIA first team and All Conference second team. Junior Tracy Blahut was a leader on the court and a strong offensive player. She too was named to the All District team for her accomplishments. Junior Brenda Rodgers earned a starting spot for her consistent play and was named to the second team All District NAIA.

Seniors this year include Becky Edwards and Kelly Hurlburt. Hurlburt suffered a costly injury in the early part of the season but has always been a strong all-around player in her four years as a team member. Lynn Wollenberg will also be leaving the team to go on to graduate studies. Lynn started this season and also was a very well-rounded team member. Coach Marge Walker felt this year's team had more confidence and team spirit than she has seen in some time. Though she will miss the three members leaving the team, Coach Walker feels this positive attitude will carry over to next season and lead to even more success.

Women's Tennis Wins District 18

For the second year in a row the Women's Tennis team has finished on top. With 5 wins, 4 losses and one incomplete game this season, the ladies won the NAIA District 18 title. In the Women's Keystone Conference, the Lady Titans finished third with a record of 3-2.

Standouts this year included Seniors Kathy Travers and Becky Gladden and Sophomore Kristin LaBombard. LaBombard won the singles match in the NAIA District 18 tournament while Travers and Gladden teamed up to capture first place in the doubles match.

Travers and Gladden also captured the best records this year. Gladden, a three time letter winner, had a single's record of 7-3 while Travers, who was also a three time letter winner, compiled a record of 7-2. As a doubles team, the ladies earned a 7-1 record.

With Gladden and Travers being the only seniors leaving, the team has a lot of potential for the next year. Though the seniors will be missed, Coach Irene Walters is looking ahead to even more success in the future.

The Titans Take a Ride on a Rollercoaster Season

1984 was a season of ups and downs for the Westminster Titans. For the first time since 1981 the Titans failed to make the playoffs. The Titans opened their 1984 season in New Wilmington against California State University of Pa. The Titans fought in a tough battle, but ended on the short side of a 27-19 score. The second week the Titans traveled to Clarion, Pa. to face Division II ranked Clarion University. For the second week in a row the Titans fought tough but couldn't come out on top, dropping a 15-10 loss to Clarion.

After dropping their first two games to 2 top ranked NCAA Division II schools, the Titans faced District 18 opponent Waynesburg College. The Titans put on a show for the home crowd winning 31-0.

The Titans then traveled to Meadville, Pa. to face Allegheny on their homecoming. The Titans ruined Allegheny's homecoming by outscoring the Gators 41-0. Homecoming was next at Westminster and with it the Findlay Oilers came to town. Ready to avenge their playoff loss to the Titans the year before, Findlay was fired up to play. But, Tradition took over as the Titans defeated the Oilers on a beautiful game winning 53 yard reception by J. J. Brennan. After 2 open dates Frostburg State College of Maryland came to Westminster and the 2 weeks off hurt the Titans as they looked rusty in tying Frostburg 13-13. This all but knocked the Titans out of a playoff berth.

But the Titans bounced back. The seventh week saw the Titans travel to Beaver Falls, Pa. to battle archrival Geneva College. The Titans took out their frustrations by clobbering the Golden Tornadoes 44-10. With one game remaining the Titans traveled to West Virginia to battle Bethany College. On a rain soaked field the Titans ended their season in a mud bath defeating the scrappy Bisons 21-0.

The Titans started off with low points but rose to end on a high note . . . just like a rollercoaster.

Titan Swim Team

This year's Titan Swim team finished their season with a record of 6-5. Aside from a winning season as a team, the Titans had five All-Americans. They were Sean Coughlin, Brian Titus, Mike Fenno, Bruce Tomasello and Dave Farner. Dave Farner not only excelled in the water, but was a strong student and was named an Academic All-American.

Among the season's highlights were a win of 64-49 over CMU and a 61-49 win over Case Western Reserve. Top swimmers this year were Freshmen Sean Coughlin who scored 146 total points for the season and Sophomore Brian Titus who scored 120 season points.

Four Seniors will be leaving the team this year. They are Mike Fenno, Dave Farner, Frank Roth and Bill Dixon. As with any team in any season, the Seniors will be missed, but with 14 underclassmen remaining, the team will no doubt build on its youth and produce many more successful seasons.

Titan Track Team

This years Titan Track team posted a 50-50 record of 3-3 this year with victories over Robert Morris College, Bethany College, and Washington and Jefferson College in a tri-meet. After three impressive early season victories the Titan Track team fell on hard times. They finished out the season with three tough losses to Geneva, Allegheny, and Grove City. J.J. Brennan was the most impressive out of all the track members with consistant wins in the 100, 200, and 400 meter runs. He was also a force in the high jump event. In the field events, "Big" Rich McWilliams shattered his own record in the Shot and newcomer Matt Bendig took his javelin throwing talents to the Nationals. With 22 returning lettermen, Coach Frohman is looking forward to a strong season in 1986.

A Losing Season — but a Winning Team

Most basketball teams would be reluctant to discuss a 4-17 season. It would be too discouraging. But for the Westminster Woman's Basketball team, 4-17 represents a new beginning. After losing three strong contributors from the previous year, the team had to start anew. Half the players on this year's squad were freshmen. And of these freshmen, three accumulated superior statistics. Bo Slack was the team's leading scorer, followed by Donna Diegan and Lori Walker. Diegan led the team in rebounding with 14.8 rebounds per game and was ranked among the top rebounders in the nation.

Several veterans also contributed strong statistics. Kathy Nieder, the only senior and team captain, was ranked third in rebounding. Junior Brenda Rodgers did an excellent job as a strong team player, contributing over five assists per game and finishing fourth in scoring. Marcia Hanley, a sophomore, also contributed almost three assists per game.

Rodgers and Diegan were among those honored for their contributions. Both Lady Titans earned an Honorable Mention on the NAIA District 18 roster.

With so much talent and individual success, it was frustrating for the Lady Titans to suffer on loss after another. As Coach Haas observed, "the team was young not only in years, but also in experience. Even the veterans remaining from last year's team had spent limited time working together."

The Lady Titans fight for possession of the ball.

The Lady Titans ended their season with a five point loss to rival Grove City. Amidst the disappointment and frustration of this loss, they left the court with their heads held high.

Their record says their season was a losing one. The absence of a spot in the play-offs echoed this sad sentiment. But the ladies who worked hard to build next year's squad knew they were not losers. Next season will tell the tale of the new Westminster Lady Titans.

84-85 Hoopsters

The Titan Basketball team held its own in District 18 play despite many key injuries to valuable players, collecting an impressive 15-13 record in District competition. The team started out quickly with wins over LaRoche, Alliance, Mt. Union and Pitt-Bradford. The opposition tightened though, as the Titans struggled to snap a three game losing streak and get a momentum for District play-offs.

Rich Kunselman led the team in scoring with a 15.5 average and 420 points. He also led the team in rebounding with an astounding total of 287. Playmaking Les Ward dished out 111 assists and averaged 10 points a game. The strong play of Russell Bruce, Kevin Reid, Bill Bailey, Jim DiVico and Freshman Joe Lafko kept most opponents from the victory column. Ex-football quarterback turned scoring machine Mark Stanley was a nice surprise for Coach Ron Galbreath.

The Titans outscored their opponents by the slim margin of 1778 to 1775 and outrebounded the opposition by a total of 976 to 965.

Next years team promises to be a solid one with all the starters and key players returning.

Lady Titans Sweep

This year's Lady Titan softball team finished their season with a record of 21-7. This record enabled them to win both the Woman's Keystone Conference and the NAIA District 18. Though they participated in the Bi-district tournament, they were defeated by Davis and Elkins College to closeout their season.

The only seniors on the team this year, co-captains Lisa Dueringer and Kathy Travers, were strong contributors. Dueringer set school records this year with her 0.457 earned run average, only 22 walks in 107 innings, three no-hit shut-outs and 101 strike-outs, and thus earned herself the teams MVP award. Travers was a strong hitter for the Lady Titans with the top average on the team at .405. She, too, broke school records with 21 RBI's, 4 triples and 3 Home runs.

Underclassmen who contributed strongly were Junior Brenda Rodgers who stole 17 bases throughout the year and Freshman Hope Guy who scored 34 runs and had 33 hits throughout the season. Junior Cathy Shipp was also a consistent contributor.

As confirmation of this team success, 7 members were named to the All-District team. Aside from Dueringer, Travers, Rodgers, Guy and Shipp, Juniors Tracy Ess and Dawn Fenlock were honored.

Though the loss of Dueringer and Travers will hurt the team, several underclassmen remain. With this young talent, the Lady Titans will no doubt find even greater success in their future.

Baseball Team

The 1985 Titan Baseball team struggled through a disappointing but exciting season. Led by strong hitters Joe Lafko, .446, Mike Hufnagel, .425, Paul Ranalli, .347, and Joe Jordano, .321, the teams offense was never one to be sneezed at. The pitching staff was also impressive despite the record as Scott Moesta won 6, lost 2 and posted a team low ERA of 2.01. Randy Learish and Rich Kunselman had respective records of 3-3 and 3-4. Ron Adams hurled 31 strike-outs opposed to 20 walks in 10 games this season.

Mike Hufnagel led the team in runs (32), doubles (13), and home runs (8). Joe Lafko's .446 batting average was tops, collecting 46 hits and also stealing 12 bases in 12 attempts. He also committed 0 errors in the field. Matt Zirpoli led the Titans in steals with 15 out of 18. Steve Streeter was most impressive at short stop with only 10 errors in 91 attempts.

Three Time Winners

For the third straight year the Westminster Titan Tennis team has won the NAIA District 18 championship. They also went to Nationals where they won 3 of 12 matches.

Junior Bill Bailey, leading the Titans with a 12-1 record in singles and a 9-3 record in doubles, won his third straight District singles title.

Senior Geoff Dalglish, with a record of 6-5 in singles and a record of 11-3 in doubles, teamed up with Bailey to be number one in doubles. Other top players this year were Bob Ostrowski, Paul Funera, Dave and Sterling Nowka, and John Rush. With only three seniors leaving the team this year, the '86 season should also be very successful.

NAIA District 18 Champions

The Golf team had an overall record of 7 wins and 2 losses, the losses against Carnegie-Mellon University and Hiram College. The team took first place in the NAIA District 18 Tournament with Sophomore sensation Ralph Litrenta recording a first place score of 72.

Other high points of the year were Eric Easton's back-to-back best scores of 78 and 77 against Bethany College and in the Slippery Rock Tourney. Freshman Dave Smith proved he will be a force to be reckoned with in the next few years as he posted scores of 78-80-75-82 in meets against Mt. Union, CMU, and in the Allegheny Invitational.

Once again Jim Lynch was Mr. Consistency as he led the Titan Golf team through his Senior season. Jim paced the team with scores of 78-77-76 in meets against Mt. Union, Grove City, and Hiram.

The Seniors leaving the team this year include Jim Lynch, Merle Whitmer, and Sam Greenwood. Next year's team promises to be a good one with the returning letter winners Dave Boyle, Eric Easton, Mike Evan, Jeff Pope, Ralph Litrenta, and Dave Smith.

Education

Student-faculty rapport is outstanding in the education department. Individualized instruction and a strong faculty train competent and creative teachers for a career in the professional education system and other fields to which the discipline of education adapts.

English

With versatile faculty representing a wide range of specialties, the English department is noted for its flexible programs, small classes which create opportunity for individualized instruction, an abundance of independent studies, and the availability of internships related to the discipline.

Foreign Language

The highly qualified and dedicated faculty and the diversity of experience the student encounters in the foreign languages department are particularly notable. Also, the wide variety of interdisciplinary programs introduces the student to language skills and techniques, cultural patterns, and developments of a global society — all leading to a better development of critical thinking.

A. Dwight Castro, James K. Sewall, James A. Cummins, Carol S. Fuller, Jacob Erhardt, Miss Tietze

History

Academic competency of faculty, friendly and informal relations between students and professors, and the ability to attract large numbers of non-majors into history courses highlight Westminster's history department, which emphasizes the ability to acquire, organize, present, and interpret a wide variety of historical materials.

Arthur L. Jensen, Delber L. McKee, Harry G. Swanhart, Eugene G. Sharkey.

Math/Computer Science

Student-faculty rapport is outstanding in the mathematics and computer science department, which emphasizes personal advising by faculty members to enhance both the academic and extracurricular growth of its students. The breadth and depth of subject areas covered are particularly notable in the curriculum.

Phys. Ed.

Charles "Buzz" Ridl is retiring this year. Joe Fusco will be taking his place.

Political Science

The program of the Political Science department is designed to provide the student with a knowledge of political values, of the American political system, of the political systems of other areas of the world, and of international politics and institutions; to provide an understanding of the interactions of institutions, groups, and the individual within the framework of the diverse political systems and political relationships; to develop a comprehension of the critical and analytical approaches of political science; and generally to evaluate critically, reason logically, and communicate effectively.

W. Thomas Nichols, Frederick R. Neikirk, Walter H. Slack.

Physics

A large degree of faculty/student interaction, individual attention, well-equipped labs, and hands-up exposure to modern equipment combine practical applications with pure science in Westminster's physics program.

Psychology

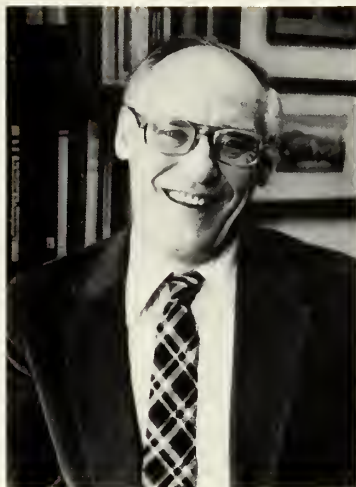

Laboratory experience and Senior Studies are both highly effective programs as they seek to integrate skills and scholarship through the application of scientific method to human behavior. The psychology faculty carries on continued research and publication in their respective areas of specialization.

Religion and Philosophy

The religion and philosophy faculty provides, from diverse viewpoints, personal concern for the intellectual and spiritual development of their students; and while their emphasis is the teaching of students, they are continuing scholars in their respective fields.

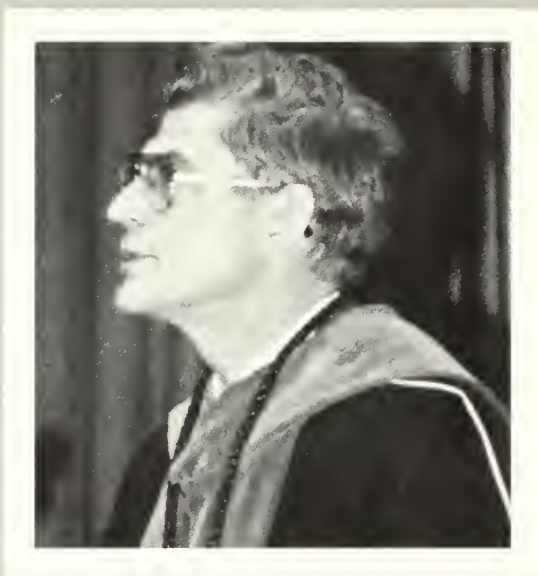

Gary D. Lilly, Roger T. Wolcott, Phyllis G. Kitzerow.

Sociology

The sociology department provides its majors with a broad view of the social sciences, combined with technical skills of data processing and computer usage to analyze problems of social relationships in systems ranging from two-person groups to total societies.

Organizations

It's that time of year and you are ready to pick new pledges, elect new officers, select advisors. In four years, not only the people change, the organizations do too . . .

- Fraternities enter floats in the Homecoming Parade
- Sigma Nu house remodeled
- Society of Collegiate Journalists formed
- Katibu renamed Christian Media Outlet
- Ep house closes and reopens
- Holcad celebrates 100 years

Next time you elect a new Vice-President or decide about a faculty advisor, keep in mind those people who have passed through and changed your organization — if only a little.

Unexpected

How many times has it happened to you? An unexpected turn of events forces you to rearrange your entire schedule . . .

- your lust finally asks you out . . .
but you have to study for a final
- a test date is rescheduled
- a ride home for the weekend falls through
- the sun appears . . . you've got to lay out!

In honor of all of the sudden changes that take place at Westminster, we present . . . the unexpected.

"Buzz" Ridl Retires

We have called him friend, Athletic Director and Coach. We have gotten used to seeing him at athletic events, around the Field House and around the town. And this year, C.G. "Buzz" Ridl retires as Director of Athletics at Westminster College.

Coach Ridl's experience with Westminster College goes back a long way. After graduating from Westminster with a Bachelor of Arts degree in 1942, he went on to further his education at the Universities of Pittsburgh, Indiana, and Slippery Rock. He served in the U.S. Army from 1942-1946 and was stationed in France, Belgium, and the Philippines. After that he began a 19 year span of employment with Westminster College, serving first as physical education instructor and then as an assistant professor. Ridl also coached the baseball and basketball teams.

His accumulated record as a Westminster roundball coach was 216-91 for an incredible .704 winning percentage. As a baseball coach, he also accumulated impressive statistics with a record of 165-86-1. Aside from his impressive records, Coach Ridl also produced many quality players. As a basketball coach, he was responsible for 9 of Westminster's 13 basketball All-Americans and his teams made 6 appearances in the NAIA tournaments. His 1961-62 team was voted the top college team in the country by UPI and AP. Coach Ridl left Westminster in 1968 to coach Pitt's basketball team until 1975.

After his years at Pitt, Coach Ridl returned to Westminster to serve first as Director of Alumni Affairs and then as Director of Athletics. In his history as a participant in the field of athletics he has received many honors. Among them are elections to the NAIA Hall of Fame, the Lawrence County Hall of Fame and the Western Pa. Hall of Fame. He has been president of the NAIA Basketball Coaches Association and a member of the Olympic selection committee and NAIA basketball advisory committee. He was most recently awarded the Letter of Distinction by the Towering Titan Organization.

Coach Ridl's impressive career was filled with change. He grew and changed with the school, meeting new challenges and accomplishing new dreams. As he leaves this year, he makes but one more change, not only in his life, but in the lives of all those he has encountered at Westminster College. Thank-You Coach Ridl for spending time with, and perhaps changing us, if only a little.

Chris Svitek

Only at Westminster . . .

- Do students check for air-mail 3 times a day.
- Do students fight for McGuiness' best scoping seats.
- Do nurses at the Infirmary lecture more than the professors.
- Do freshmen think food = popcorn + candy.
- Do strange men steal girls' underwear.
- Do students socialize more in the Library than in the Student Union.
- Do invisible sorority sisters hold candlelights.
- Do students rake leaves and mow lawns more than maintenance.
- Do students feel King's Inn is the prime Wednesday night study spot.
- Do professors hold office hours at the TUB and Business Lounge.
- Do bells ring on the hour and half hour and quarter hour and . . .
- Do students use their bookbags for anything, but books.
- Do girls dress in men's underwear, t-shirts, and coats.
- Do students do all their shopping at the Salvation Army.
- Do students occupy the lounge furniture after 12 a.m.
- Do fraternities lose their voices during Greek Week.
- Do students become Democrats for a week.
- Do dates consist of a pizza, a movie, and two hours in the lobby.
- Do men win beauty contests.
- Do some students find climbing the outside of the building easier than the inside stairs.
- Do the students feel Mr. Mons should be President — "okay?"
- Do Biology students count blades of grass.
- Do students feel Prima's and Domino's should deliver 24 hours a day.
- Do luminaries light the campus during Christmas Vespers.
- Do students fly south for Easter.
- Do swimmers shed during season.

There is a sixth dimension beyond that which is known to man. It is a dimension as vast as space and as timeless as infinity. It is the middle ground between light and shadow, between science and superstition, between the pit of man's fears and the sunlight of his knowledge. It is the dimension of the imagination. It is an area that we call the ASSPIT.

The small group of men who comprise the Asspit share a common thought:

To strive to be the best that they can be — and above all ... to be themselves.

Pizza Delivery

It's 10 p.m., at least four hours since you had dinner, and the paper you are typing is looking more and more like an image of a thick pizza oozing with melted cheese, thick with pepperoni, and topped with a variety of other tantalizing delights. Your mouth begins to water at the thought, your stomach rumbles in aching anticipation, and you're afraid to blink for fear that the picture may disappear.

Well, students at Westminster need not fear the horrendous pangs of pizza deprivation any longer. They have a variety of options available to them for quick, easy and, best of all, FREE pizza delivery!

Prima pizza, located right in New Wilmington, delivers pizza of accomodating sizes and toppings right to your dorm lobby. All it takes is a phone call, and soon a steaming pizza is delivered right to your convenience.

"Domino's Pizza Delivers . . ." is a familiar advertising jingle that causes many students to crave their ever-famous Italian speciality. Stationed in near-by New Castle, they too require only a phone call to order. They promise fast delivery to your dorm or fraternity house and keep this promise faithfully. So, for a small price, you can calm your rumbling digestive system and sleep contentedly!

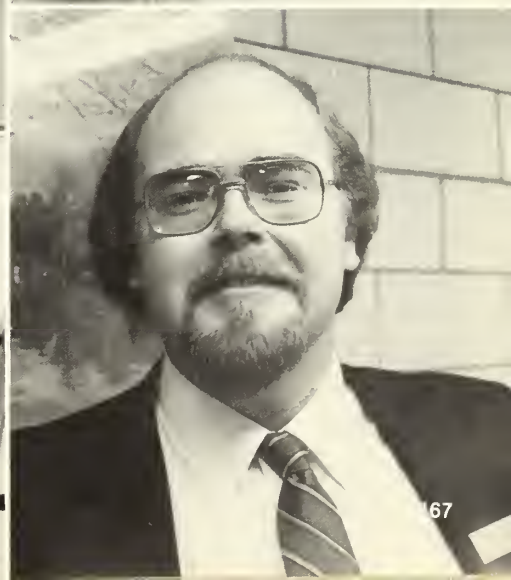

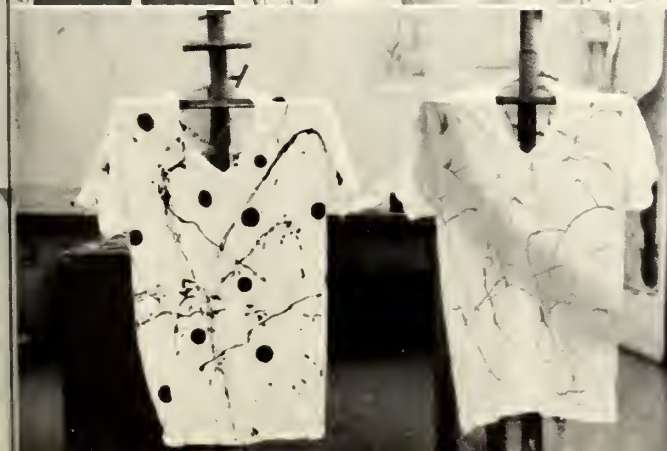

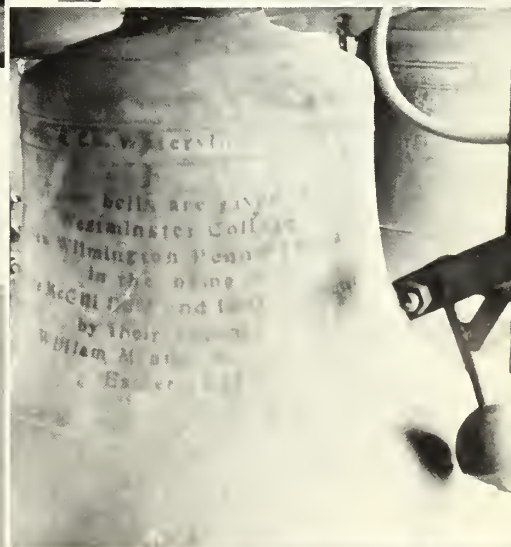

However, closest to home is pizza delivery by our very own food service, SAGA, Inc. Yes, indeed, they will also deliver pizza to you as simply and conveniently as the established pizza parlors. The Pizza Express offers free delivery as well to dorms and frat houses. They do have certain hours of delivery depending on the day of the week, but their pizza holds up against even the professional pizza-dealers!

So calm your fears of hallucinating from starvation in the mid hours of the evening. These free pizza deliveries can settle your hunger pangs and get you back to serious studying. It's also convenient for dinner or parties, and it's even more fun to share the experience with a friend!!!
